

PEOPLE FIGHT AT STATE HOUSE FOR BILL TO CURB POWER TRUSTS

Opening Fight Against Power Trust 'Invasion'

Full River company to the power trusts, that which was feared more than two years ago has become a reality.

In February, 1927, stockholders of the company were circulated with an invitation to pool their stocks in the form of a trust for mutual protection against the possibility of outside interests obtaining control of a majority of shares and leaving the minority shareholders unprotected.

The Full River company was one of those named by Governor Fuller.

Power Trust Fought at Hearing on Light Bill

The Power Trust was flayed by legislators and other speakers before the House Committee on Public Utilities and a crowd that filled the largest hearing room at the State House to overflowing today, as public hearings began on the municipal light and power bill.

This hearing signified the opening of the fight on Boston Hill against the "power grab" in Massachusetts.

Chairman Henry C. Atwell of the Public Utilities Commission, who is the main author of the bill, said that the bill was the result of the long and arduous work of the committee.

A ruling of the Supreme Court, on which the private corporations have claimed the right to charge rates calculated on inflated reproduction values of their plants, Atwell referred to as a "monstrous state of affairs" in a discussion of the bill.

The Leash resolve will be given a hearing next Monday, as will another introduced by Representative Anthony A. McNulty, Representative Nathan of Somerville, introduced Leash's measure.

Explains Why State Must Curb Utilities

Representative Frank R. Brainerd of South Hadley, clerk of the committee on power and light, opened the hearing by speaking for the bill as reported by the committee, saying that the Worcester company had an investment of $4,000,000, which for court purposes was "worked up" to an inflated value of $10,000,000.

"The plant," he added, "was really worth only $1,000,000. The inflation of the New England Power Company."

The Cambridge company, he said, had an investment of $1,000,000, but was sold to the Associated Gas & Electric company for $10,000,000. "Does anybody here or anywhere else in the State think for a minute that these fabulous prices are being paid without the companies receiving commensurate return on these prices through the rates?" he asked.

Full rates, he continued, "municipal plants are beginning to enlighten us as to what fair rates are, and are showing us that the efficiency of private companies does not exist when municipal plants are concerned."

The Haddam municipal-owned plant, doing business against the Shattuck plant of competition, sells electricity at four cents a kilowatt hour. The Chicago municipal plant rate is five cents. South Hadley, my town, 15 years ago invested $200,000 and has a plant that at $200,000 today, and has reduced the cost of street lighting 66 per cent and the cost of commercial lighting from 15 to 10 cents.

"This is typical of what municipal plants are doing all over the State," Brainerd said, "and the effect of the proposed law becomes municipal competition."

Sees Only Two Ways to Get Effective Control

"This bill will also be opposed by those who believe that regulation ought to be limited to the field left to regulate under the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court in its interpretation of the 14th amendment of the United States Constitution. For reasons already expressed in our last two annual reports, we are against this doctrine of rate regulation with reference to return on the so-called reproduction value of the property."

So that it seemed to us there were only two avenues out for the people of this Commonwealth. First, the contract system by which the companies and the Commonwealth would agree in effect that their rates would be regulated by agreement with our established practice here, giving a fair return on the capital invested, and second, public ownership, if the companies were unwilling to conform to the form of regulation which this State has enacted.

"Some honestly believe that what the Supreme Court will allow

Power Trust 'Invasion'

AT HEARING ON MUNICIPAL LIGHTING BILL AT STATE HOUSE

Representative Frank E. Brainerd, clerk of the legislative sub-committee on power and light opened the hearing on the lighting bill by calling attention to excessive electric lighting rates and to the "invasion of Massachusetts by powerful electricity combines acting for themselves directly."

Various features of the bill with Shattuck asked as to whether it would be feasible to allow a hearing before the department on the value of the property before it or town agreed as to whether or not the property or any part of it should be taken over. Atwell saw no objection to this.

Shattuck's final query was "Suppose, now, taking the Worcester situation, where the alleged Power Trust pays a price of $20,000,000, suppose the company figures it must own 3 per cent of that figure, and claims certain rights. In our opinion, a measure of this kind made it more or less easy for them to get away with it?"

Shattuck: "In that event this bill would be in the hands of the public." "I can't say how, but I should be astonished if I found them supporting it."

School Propaganda May Be Included in Inquiry

Distribution of 70,000 power propaganda pamphlets to 300 high schools in New England by the New England Bureau of Public Service Information of 34 Milk St., Boston, will become the subject of investigation by the Legislature, if the Leash-Hagan resolve is admitted and acted upon favorably.

Samuel T. MacQuarrie of Boston, director of this bureau, whose membership is entirely composed of electric gas, street railway and other public utility corporations, is authorized to make a list of the number of pamphlets distributed to the schools.

The Boston Evening American today prints a photograph of the cover of a pamphlet distributed by the bureau, to men's and women's clubs, newspapers, bankers and the New England countrymen.

It organized executive and employees of public utility companies into a speakers' bureau, the members of which have been making approximately 1000 free speeches a year to club and school audiences in New England, three quarters of these audiences composed of high school boys and girls.

"The Tyranny of Government in Business and the Menace of Federal Control" were the titles of two pamphlets sent out to the 300 high schools.

MacQuarrie told the Federal Trade Commission the New England Bureau spent more than $20,000 a year and last year, $25,000. A bulletin is published and sent out each week. The bureau's 1100 newspaper columns were filled with material sent out by it in New England, and later reports recorded a big increase.

Power Propaganda Sent To 289 N. E. Schools

Schools Now Hold Generations That Must Carry on the Utilities

In the schools today are those who in the future must "carry on" the problems of light, heat, transportation and communication for the nation and the world; problems that will be no less complex than those which the great pioneers have faced. The generation of the pioneers—those of the "first" generation, the men with the vision, who saw the lightning, electric power, street cars that moved by voice over unlimited space, wires that could carry a piped and made to cook, gas that could actually become a reality in peace, and operate great machinery and actual superlatives made industrial life—has not ended. Within the next ten years the demands of the nation for service will probably be double those of today as a result of the need of more intensive and economical production.

BUT PARS THEM FROM SINGING HAREM

The sisters went on a Mediterranean cruise after completing their studies in the Mt. Vernon Seminary for young women in Washington.

"The Pasha showed us through his court," they said, "but we were not allowed to go near the harem."

"Both of us wanted to see it and once we caught a glimpse of some of the women, but we couldn't get near enough to see what they looked like."

The congress voted to authorize the society to borrow $50,000 to complete work on Constitution Hall. This action was then referred to the board of management for final approval.

Recites Sad Plight of Civil War Widows

THE PITIFUL PLIGHT of 200 aged widows of Massachusetts Civil War veterans who need immediate care, stirred the 50th anniversary of the Women's Relief Corps to pledge renewed battle in the Legislature for an increased appropriation for adequate housing and care for them. The $250,000 already voted for this purpose is insufficient to start a home for them, Mrs. Orie C. Dunlap, retiring department president declared.

Many aged veterans and their wives are in a similar plight, she stated, living on small pensions without adequate care, and unable to pay the endowment for care in a home for the aged.

This was the main task set for the organization for the coming year. The 800 delegates from all over the State unanimously endorsed Mr. Annie Poole Atwood of Wollaston, leader of the legislative fight, for the Massachusetts candidate for national department president at the convention in Portland, Me., next September. Mrs. Lena Snow of Boston Corps 88, was unanimously elected department president. Mrs. Annie Howard of Greenfield Corps 57, was chosen senior vice-president.

The Women's Relief Corps has lost 27 members this year by death, the president reported in her message. The membership today in 135 corps in the state is 13,939. Fifty large silk American flags, purchased through the corps activities, were presented to schools and churches during an impressive ceremony this afternoon.

DAUGHTERS UNION VETS.

Miss Eunice Patton of Boston was unanimously elected department president at the opening session of the convention today which 400 delegates representing 400 members throughout the state gathered in the Georgian room at the Hotel.

There are 35,000 members in the national roster of this organization, affiliated with the G. A. R. whose chief object is to help care for Civil War veterans.

A feature of the convention was the memorial exercises conducted for 35 deceased members during the past year, conducted by department chaplain, Mrs. Melissa Gilman of Falmouth, who invited floral offerings.

Miss Statie Tucker of Somerville, national department treasurer, brought greetings from the national president, Miss Hazel Riley of Chicago. Convention closes today with the installation of officers.

STATECRAFT INSTITUTE

D. Loring Young, addressing 375 women from all over the state, sought their help in creating sentiment for a cleavage of the two political parties on the tariff issue, during the opening session of the "Statecraft Institute" at the Women's Republican Club.

Governor Allen had previously told them that women have shown men how to be real politicians, and Prof. Warren O. Ault of U. of M. had recommended the study of politics as an intellectual hobby for all college graduates and women's organizations.

"Are we always sure that our particular party is fundamentally right on every political issue?" Young asked. "It is not true that millions vote according to tradition or prejudice and not because they understand the issues."

"Most of us take too much stock in what so-called political leaders say. I doubt if any American has gone far enough in scientific study to discuss political issues without partisanship. Women are peculiarly qualified to make such study on a non-partisan basis, because they are more painstaking and thorough than men."

DRUG ADDICTS TO HAVE FARM IN PENN

By KENNETH CLARK

Harrisburg, Pa., April 17.—Following the lead of the federal government in the fight against the dope evil, the Pennsylvania State Senate passed a bill authorizing a farm for narcotic addicts.

The measure already has been approved by the House. It now goes to Governor Fisher for signature. His prompt approval is anticipated.

The bill sponsored by Representative Samuel J. Green of Pittsburg, was patterned after the federal narcotic farm bill passed by the last Congress and approved by President Coolidge.

Representative Porter (R.) of Pennsylvania, author of the federal bill, came here yesterday to lend his endorsement to the efforts of state leaders to provide a similar plan for Pennsylvania.

Porter congratulated Governor Fisher and legislative leaders on the passage of the bill.

"The federal government is organizing to smash the dope ring and free addicts from the diabolical shackles of the drug," said Porter. "It can not do the work alone. The states have a definite duty in this respect, particularly in rehabilitating addicts."

The passage of the Pennsylvania bill marks what I hope will be a concerted, vigorous movement by the states, not only to help in breaking up the drug traffic, but to institute scientific methods of treatment for rehabilitation.

"We must choke the monster dope and save America, our boys and our girls, from slavery and desecration, while here daily."

FILM is Cloudy

Teeth are white and sparkling

Film discolors teeth and then destroys them. Dentists urge a special way to remove it.

DENTAL science knows what robs teeth of brilliant whiteness. It is film, a constant menace. It clings to teeth and gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs stains from food and smoking to turn white teeth "off color" and cloud their brilliance. Film hardens into tartar. Gums bleed in it, and they, plus tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

To remove film, dentists prescribe the special film-removing dentifrice called Peppodent. Try it today. Grow whiter and begin to sparkle. Start today. Get Peppodent at any drug counter, or write for free 10-day supply to The Peppodent Co., 1104 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

BOSTONIANS OF NOTE, ON GRAND TOUR, VISIT THE ANCIENT NILE

Shepherd's Hotel
Attracts Many
to Cairo

THEY FIGURE IN EVERY smart international circle, do the travelers who register here and move about the world as halting from Boston. Shepherd's Hotel in Cairo is famous the world around for many things, but there is always a bit of lustre to be added to its fame when such discriminating travelers as the Talbot Alfriches seek it out as an abiding place. Likewise the George Washington Parkers, rambling with carefree insouciance in foreign lands, made Shepherd's in the old Nile city their headquarters.

BOSTON'S QUOTA IN CAIRO includes also Mr. and Mrs. William Suter Eaton, doing a portion of the grand tour and seeing on this trip certain sights and wonders not encountered during other of their world wanderings. Mr. and Mrs. Parker have their pretty blonde daughter, Miss Sally Parker, with them, and plan a stay abroad absolutely dictated by the mood of the moment, and with no set route to follow. The Parkers thus divide their time each year, certain months being spent in Boston and many others in foreign wanderings.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE EDDY WARREN also belong to any chronicle written of the itinerant Bostonians who move luxuriously about the globe stopping at these well known spots most favored at the moment as fashionable playgrounds. The Warrens, who go abroad with the regularity of the seasons, have been in Egypt, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pembroke have been registered at the Olympic Palace Hotel in Cairo since the Van Rensselaer Thayer also has been in Carlsbad, at the Imperial.

ROSE-STREWN PATHS TRAILING romance between city and city link in fragrant bonds

MUSEUM

A drenching rain, accompanied by a northeast gale, seemed to hold no terrors for the hundreds of music lovers that all but filled the balconies and stairways of the Museum of Fine Arts to hear 30 men of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in a musical program, led by Arthur Fiedler.

It was no wonder, then, that Goldmark's colorful overture to "Sakuntala," the opening number, should make so vivid an impression. And the religious inspiration that is Cesar Franck's seemed doubly so as the ensemble played the allegretto from "The Adoration of the Kings" in D minor. Liszt's "Les Preludes" completed the first half of the program.

Mr. Fiedler and his men aroused much enthusiasm as their beautiful harmonies blended in one grand symphony of sound, filling every corner of the vast building, joining as it were, the art of music to those of painting and sculpture. The last, Chopin's "Fifth Symphony" gave way to the more rhythmic and spirited "Sopranos" of Debussy and Chabrier, both numbers giving the musicians excellent opportunity to display their unusually fine abilities. The preludio to "The Adoration of the Kings," by Debussy, and Wagner's overture to "Tannhauser" closed the concert.

DE MOLAY BAND WILL PLAY

The DeMolay band of Newton will be on the program at the first annual get-together of the Massachusetts Federation of Square and Company Clubs in Convention Hall tonight. There also will be vaudeville numbers.

Officers in charge are Charles E. White, of Revere, president; Louis B. Heston of Melrose, vice-president; T. J. Valentine, Everett, secretary; Alfred H. Shively, Hingham, board of directors; Floyd E. Rich, Weymouth; Harry H. Gieseler, all Revere; Earl E. Davidson, Brookline; W. C. Smith, Somerville; W. H. Brackett, Leominster; and Dudley G. Kimball, Dorchester.

Priest Finds Slayer of Mother, Sister
New Rochelle, N. Y., April 17 (AP)—The suspicious of a priest caused the arrest in a church here of a youth identified by the police as Henry Estrada, 24, accused of the slaying in New York last Thursday of his mother and sister.

Father Temple of the Holy Family Roman Catholic Church called the police on noticing the nervousness of the man who had been in the church for several hours. Police said they found two knives, one a large hunting knife, in his pocket.

smart young people, of the combined Boston and New York persuasion. Miss Kathleen Baker, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Worthington Hall of New York, interests Boston's upper circles with her forthcoming marriage with Louis Starr, even though nuptial rites are to be celebrated in the big city. The all-important day is May 12, and old Grace Church furnishes the dignity of ecclesiastical austerity and beauty for the ceremonial.

MISS BAKER'S DEBUT HAD a Boston stage—she was a member of the set that made its various curtesies several years ago—several as things go in the bad center; three or so to be exact. School days spent partially abroad added that cultural finishing touch thought necessary when feminine of the fashionable set are being primed to take a whirl in the social mazes. Miss Baker is a daughter of Dr. Henry Baker of Boston, but makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. Null in Gotham.

STORK FEATHERS FLYING here and there bring tidings of little new comers in beautifully appointed nurseries. The Valentine Hollingsworths have a small daughter, born not so long ago, to link important Boston and Chicago lines. Mrs. Hollingsworth was Miss Ruby McCormick of the Chicago clan of distinguished achievement. And the Amor Housworths of Brook Hill rd. are also within the family circle.

MR. AND MRS. EDGAR WARREN BRIGHT (Frances Seers) are as usual in the lead of the summer residents to open their houses at Marblehead Neck. After spending the winter at Fort Myers, Fla., they are now on their way North and are expected at "Bright side," their place on Harvard st., Marblehead Neck, for a long season. Mrs. George S. Lawler of 47 Mordin rd., Marblehead, who has been visiting Mrs. Bright, will remain North with them.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE CARLTON ADAMS (Elizabeth

Covel) of Waban have become members of the Hamilton community through the purchase of the property on Bridges st. formerly owned by Mrs. W. Galbraith Mitchell of Beverly Farms, situated near the grounds of the Myopia Hunt Club. The very old house is one of the most charming examples of the early American type of architecture. Mr. and Mrs. Adams intend to make it their permanent residence.

DR. AND MRS. G. COLKET CANER (Mary Paul) of 61 Marlboro st., Boston, will have Miss Grace Monk's cottage on Summer st., Manchester Cove, for the summer. Last year they were at Beverly Farms. This change will bring them a little nearer Dr. Caner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Caner, who have a large estate in the Dan's Beach section of Manchester. Miss Monk has built an addition to her cottage and garage and servants' quarters since last season when Mrs. Percy Chase (Marion Monk) had the cottage.

THE HORATIO HATHAWAYS have a place called "Greystone" at Dark Harbor, Me. This summer will find them in the colony at Smith's Point, Manchester, where they will occupy Mrs. Charles Taylor's place, "The Grange." They have a schooner yacht, Reona, on which they spend much of the summer, anyway, but this year they will be nearer to the center of yachting activities by having a house on the North Shore.

The permanent home of Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway (Mabel Loverin) and their son, Levering Hathaway, is at Dedham, where their estate is also named "Greystone."

There will be fewer painful feet this summer
Now that Coward's in town!

WHEN the weather becomes warmer, many feet become more troublesome and painful. As Mark Twain has said, "little has ever been done about the weather"... but Coward has done much to take away the terrors of painful feet.

For after all, having good feet comes down to having the proper kind of shoes. And it is Coward's main and single purpose to provide exactly the right kind, size and width of shoe for every individual foot. To do this, Coward carries the largest variety in the world and maintains a skilled staff of fitting experts.

So, naturally, the best way to forestall foot troubles this summer is to come to Coward's right now.

He Drives Fire Right
Up to Alarm Box

While driving his automobile along Randolph ave., Milton, today, Herman Tuckman, 55 Brook ave., Dorchester, snuffed the air apprehensively. He was sure he sensed smoke and kept on the alert for signs of fire.

Suddenly he sensed a close proximity to the blaze and stopped his car to investigate. When he did, the machine, a sedan, burst in flames.

Recalling at the driver's seat, he guided the blazing automobile to Dunhill st., where fire alarm box 311 is located, and sent in alarm.

By the time fire apparatus arrived the body of the car had been consumed.

Washington, April 17 (CNS)—The number of lawyers striving to get into government service is reaching new records as President Hoover continues to ponder over appointments.

Recommendations for assistant attorney-generalships run considerably higher, for there are more of them to go round.

WAGE EARNER IS PENALIZED BY INCOME TAX

The percentage of income paid by the average professional man or woman and by the wage earner is 2-deral income tax represents far greater sacrifice and a relatively higher individual share than that paid by the capitalist or the person of wealth, says Mrs. Wm. W. Pinckney, secretary of the Massachusetts Civic League.

Hearty endorsement of the Boston Evening American's campaign to bring about greater exemption for earned income in federal income tax regulations was given by Mrs. Pinckney today.

"I am most strongly of the opinion that special consideration should be given to special classes of the community in the matter of income tax and exemption," Mrs. Pinckney stated.

"Under present conditions the federal income tax works a special hardship upon professional people. After all, they are making the greater contribution to society. In general, that class has greater cultural demands than any other. They find a need to spend a greater share of their earnings for such things as books and papers, for conferences and for other cultural activities."

"With regard to the wage earner, no one of that class gets any very large income, and, in consequence, whatever tax demand is made upon him results in a comparatively greater sacrifice than a corresponding demand upon a person of wealth. Ten per cent of $100 represents a far greater proportionate amount than ten per cent of $1000."

"In the one case, the tax comes out of things that are essentially needed. In the other case, it comes out of things that cannot be considered other than luxuries."

WIDOW IS BRIDE OF BABE RUTH IN NEW YORK

New York, April 16 (AP)—Babe Ruth and Mrs. Claire Hodgson, former actress, were married early today at St. Gregory's Roman Catholic Church. The ceremony was performed at 8:30 a. m., 20 minutes ahead of the time as announced last night in Ruth's behalf.

Despite the snowing up of the hour the church was well filled and a crowd stood about the entrance in a drive or rain to see the famous ball player and his bride as they emerged from the church.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lovell, old friends of both of them. There was no music at the ceremony.

Two altar boys who served the mass were presented autographed baseballs by Ruth.

SPRING STYLE SHOW

OF NEW NASH "400" MODELS

AND DEMONSTRATION WEEK

OF NEW NASH "400" FEATURES

ALL THIS WEEK . . .

Spring has arrived, and with it the Spring Style Show of New Nash "400" models in the smart new colors and finishes for the coming season. All this week at our Nash Showrooms.

Concurrently with the "400" Style Show, we have arranged a "400" Demonstration Week, to show you "400" style, then to acquaint you with the many new "400" features and the new and finer type of performance which they introduce to motoring.

You will have an opportunity to see what Twin Ignition is and what it does—how the Nash outboard mounting of hydraulic shock absorbers improves riding ease—how Nash-Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication simplifies car maintenance—what it means to drive the world's easiest handling motor car—and how motoring expense is reduced by the Nash policy of completely equipping (except spare tire) every "400" model at the factory, at no extra cost.

This Spring Style Show and "400" feature demonstration will continue all week. You are especially invited to attend this interesting event.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

[illegible]

DRY LAW RULES MORALLY BAD, SAYS FARMER

E. Clements Most, one of America's wealthiest farmers, who has 800 acres under intensive cultivation in California, was interviewed at the Hotel Biltmore, New York, yesterday for the Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest, concerning his views on national prohibition.

Mr. Most, who has consistently opposed prohibition for years both on economic and moral grounds, and who is known throughout the world for his strong advocacy of temperance, had just reached New York from Washington, where he had appeared before committees of the House and Senate with reference to farm relief measures. He said:

"I scarcely know where to start in discussing the recent developments with respect to prohibition and its evils. At Washington, however, I called attention to the fact that congressional courtesy of the port is in violation of the federal situation under the famous Donnelly decision of the United States Supreme Court.

"I might also add that if employees of the government are guilty of allowing liquor to come into a port under cover of so-called congressional courtesy that their superior officers, including cabinet members and even the President, are equally guilty and liable.

"If an ambassador violates our laws he may be deported even if he may not be prosecuted. His host, which means the American people, has as many rights as the ambassadorial guest, otherwise, our prohibition legal restrictions in this respect are absurd.

"The government appears to have taken the position that it can dictate what classes of prohibition it will enforce, and what classes it will not enforce. This is fundamentally wrong, legally and morally indefensible, and is inconsistent with all principles of law enforcement.

Thrilling 6-Day Novel by Noted Author

A London jeweler named Arnold is visited by a caller named Osborn. Arnold later vanished. Inspector Gilmour of Scotland Yard finds Arnold's safe rifled. Meanwhile Seymour, a boyhood friend of Sir Henry Fordyce, comes back from India and settles at Chennel, his place near Fordyce's.

CHAPTER 3

LATE one evening I received a call from Gilmour. He came disguised as an old, tottering man and astonished me when he revealed himself.

"Sir, it's really for your own sake that I've called on you."

"For my sake?" I exclaimed.

"Yes, Sir Henry. If it were known that a man of your force had interviewed you, I should be in serious danger. When you have heard what I have to say, you will see that yourself."

"Of course you know, Sir Henry, that there has been an inquest today at Chennel."

"You also know very well that there have been three strange disappearances, which have been rightly or wrongly connected together—the disappearance of a man last seen at Chennel and the mysterious plane crash on the Downs."

He looked at the door and continued in a very low voice.

"Now comes this election—tonight at Chennel. You will remember, Sir, who the other man was—Sergeant Paton—who disappeared from Chennel. This man who has just been electrocuted was also from Scotland Yard. You must be a reason why Chennel should be so fatal to our men."

"But why were two of your men sent down to the neighborhood?" I asked.

"Because Sir Henry, we are sure that all four of the occurrences I've mentioned were the work of one man—and I continued after a significant pause, "that that man lives at Chennel."

"Seymour! Mr. Seymour of Chennel... a murderer?"

"I found myself on my feet, glancing at the detective."

"Just that," he said quietly.

"The evidence is as yet incomplete. It is not enough for conviction. That is what we are working for at the Yard."

"Do you know that Mr. Seymour is a friend of mine? You are engaged in a secret inquiry why should you come to me of all people?"

"It is only right that you should be told the truth. And the truth is that all the men of the force who are trying to solve the mystery of these deaths and disappearances have been to the work of one individual and suspect that individual to be your friend Mr. Seymour."

"Then it is entirely for my sake you have called with this information?"

"There is more in it than that, Sir. If you are in a position to give us proof-positive that Mr. Seymour could not possibly have been concerned with any one of these cases it will give us great assistance."

"I leave you to carry on your work alone," I said.

"We have to deal with a very clever man. He has beaten us four times. He has shown his disregard for any human life that stands in his way. If he knew you were being interviewed by us your life would not be worth a week's purchase. As you do not wish to speak further to me now I will ask my chief to write to you for an appointment in some other place. I beg you to make one with him, Sir, and not to tell the servants or anyone else who has called on you tonight."

He spoke very earnestly while he was resuming his disguise. That done I rang the bell for Barnes. The inspector's rendering of the tottering old man, as he went away, was admirable.

When Gilmour first mentioned Seymour's name in such a terrible connection, the idea which he sought to introduce instantly surged through my mind as though it were with something it found there. But what of the future?

CRAWFORD STILL OUT, FIGHTS FOR JOB Jail and Fines For Parents of Flaming Youth

2 MILLION OIL SUIT DROPPED

Boston lost to Chicago as the probable host to English nobility by the dismissal today in federal court here of a $2,000,000 suit in equity brought by 500 British subjects against the banking house of Peabody, Houghton Company. Allegations in the bill charged misrepresentation by the defendants in the sale to plaintiffs of that amount in bonds issued in the reorganization of the New England Oil Refining Company.

In dismissing the suit, Judge James M. McLaughlin sustained the contention of counsel for the defendants that the home office of the banking house was in Chicago and not in Boston as plaintiffs alleged.

Attorney Herbert Ehrmann, representing the plaintiffs, declared he would immediately file a bill of complaint in the Illinois court.

Open Whitney Suit in Fontaine Case

New York, April 17 (AP)—Trial was begun in Supreme Court today of the action Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney interposed in the $100,000 suit against him by Evans Burroughs, a dancer. Miss Fontaine charged Whitney is the father of her eight-year-old son, named Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney Jr.

The jury in the present action must decide whether dismissal of the breach of promise action in "Chiffonette" constitutes a bar to Miss Fontaine suing Whitney here.

The Curious Quizzer

Every day he asks a question and pictures those questioned.

THE QUESTION
Do you think the Civil Service rule requiring war veterans to apply for reinstatement to positions within two years after discharge should be changed to allow more time?

GEORGE D. CRIMMINS, 182 Vassett st., Wollaston, college student—It seems to me that two years is a long time to wait for a man to apply for the job he is looking for. Of course, if a man has been up to problems which necessarily made him delay in making application before the time limit set by the Civil Service, he should be "given a break" and put back at his work.

JAMES HIGGINS, 18 South st., Rockland, clerk—Two years is plenty. I should say in answer to the question, it appears that war veterans now have two years under the rules of Civil Service in some cases.

I have no doubt the Civil Service rules should extend the period but war veterans are allowed an extra 30 per cent in the examination taken under Civil Service, and a 5 per cent in the marks is granted any of the examinee in excess of the marks allowed any other applicant for the same position. I know I got a mark of 80 per cent in a Civil Service test and there were more than 20 others who had higher marks.

MISS IRVINE SULLIVAN, 70 Cross st., West Quincy, typist—There should be no time limit set when a war veteran needs reinstatement in a position he has lost and that Civil Service ruling should be abolished.

When a man, intelligently fitted him for the position, I am sure he would not have lost it in the first place. If he had not qualified, I see no reason why he should be deprived of the chance of working in the position he feels himself best adapted to.

MISS CONNIE MACDONALD, 119 Russell st., Atlantic, singer—Whatever advantage the Civil Service gives in allowing applicants to take competitive examination it seems to me that the man who served in the country is a soldier, or a marine's uniform should be looked upon as a privilege.

His job back after a limited time, I am from Atlantic, Ga., and I just returned from singing to "some of the boys" at a time in Bedford. I do not believe it right to keep one of them from a position he can fill just because he didn't keep it for a while and then, after two years discovered he was ineligible for no other reason, made his application a few weeks too late.

MISS IRVINE SULLIVAN, 70 Cross st., West Quincy, typist—There should be no time limit set when a war veteran needs reinstatement in a position he has lost and that Civil Service ruling should be abolished.

PUPILS IN CRAWFORD MAD RUM REVELS FIGHTS ON FOR JOB

Chicago, April 17 (AP)—Indulgent parents blamed for vagaries of modern youth, have been warned that fines and jail are the lot of those who let loose the bridle of their children.

A coroner's jury investigating the death of a high school boy in a motor accident after a drunken party Sunday night today said 38 parents have been arrested and 24 fined $75 for indulgent treatment of their children in the last two weeks.

A mother and a father were sent to Reformatory on refusal to pay fines. Determined to let their sons be perched on the shoulders of a juvenile delinquent, a Chicago court today said it would not make a contempt of law and that it would not make a contempt of law.

He stated that he is standing a 30-day trial and may be required to pay an interest and that he is preparing to meet opposition.

MARATHON ENTRY LIST NOW TOTALS 190

MAKE LIGH UTRI MGRIN

More than 200 men are expected to start in the annual B. A. A. Marathon from Hopkinton to Boston on Friday. The entry list has reached 190, and there are sure to be enough additional entries to bring the total to better than 200 for the classic.

B. A. A. officials expect that the entry list will be the largest in the history of the event. A notable entry was received in the latest batch of names sent to the secretary of the B. A. A. that of Mike Lynch, of Washington. Mike is probably on the shady side of 30 and is a regular entry in the B. A. A. event.

Leonard Toppel, who scamped home second in the recent Providence to Boston marathon, has added his name to the starting list. His brother, Ernest, entered at the same time.

Members of the Boston Athletic Association today made a tour of inspection of the course from Hopkinton to Boston. In the party were Al Hart, chairman of the Marathon committee; Thomas J. Kinsley, George V. Brown and Desmond Washworth.

The storm has caused washouts along the route, but these will be fixed up. The police officials of the cities and towns along the route have assured the committee of the usual good patrolling of the course. State constabulary will patrol the course and keep the lanes clear for the athletes.

Early Starts Hurt Local Ball Clubs

By NICK FLATLEY
The last few days along the Atlantic coast are the greatest argument for a May opening of the baseball campaign that has yet been offered. What baseball is played in Boston in April doesn't amount to a thing. It often manages to put local teams on the blink, but, of course, the rest of the leagues care very little about that.

The rest softens up pitching arms, and dim batting eyes but it's as fair for one club as it is for the other.

The Braves were dragging a bit when they came up from the South, and they certainly have had enough vacation and cold since to bring back the old pop.

The same goes for the Dodgers. The owners and athletes are not worrying about the pep, though they're fretting over the chances of pneumonia and flu, not to mention the same. Nick Flattley.

Both Judge Pritch and Uncle Wilbert Robinson are philosophers. The pair of them have been taking it on the chin for so many years that a little more trouble sounds like just their usual routine. But the pair of them have been taking it on the chin for so many years that a little more trouble sounds like just their usual routine.

Both have been laying on the matter of predictions this spring. Robbie made speeches about his grip, and about the things that tied him down in the buying market. But he's a wizard with pitchers, and he thinks in his heart that his Big Three—Vance, Clark and McWaters—plus a few dark horses he's nursed, will bring his club into plenty of prominence.

Judge Pritch has been unwilling to make statements, but he harbors a hope that Hank Gowdy, just making speeches when he caters about the Trial pitchers. The judge is managing this year, and getting the busy all along the line. Sort of tickles him, and keeps the prying investigators away from a lot of other lines that might be taken.

The Braves have tried to make trades for outfielders. But other clubs would not kick in anything for value received. The Houston was desperate in the South. Then of a sudden, Earl Clark began to wild batting streak. George Harper won his batting eye.

"Prime in Golden" is truly spoken of. He's a real home run hitter. They make a lot of him—said Briggs.

N.C.A.A. AND A.A.U. STILL AT ODDS

New York, April 17 (AP).—There are still a few discords in the new-found harmony between the National Collegiate Association and the Amateur Athletic Union.

An outspoken critic of A. A. U. policies, Griffith believes that lasting peace is an impossibility, until there is a change in the makeup of the American Olympic Association.

Griffith's contention is that since college men form the bulk of American Olympic teams, college officials should be the predominant factor in the Olympic association.

Sox-Yank Battle Again Postponed

New York, April 17.—Babe Ruth didn't have to leave his wife on their wedding day.

The rain, which prevented the opening game between the Yankees and Red Sox yesterday, left the stadium in such a shape that it was impossible to stage the tilt today.

Sox crooked, again, and again were put over until Saturday. Charlie Ruffing and Ed Morris are ready to pitch for the Yankees. The New York pitcher will not be decided until some time.

Bob Quinn, Red Sox warden, was forced to leave the pleasure of watching his team in the first game of the season, but he did not leave for Boston after the Sox lost to the Yankees.

B. C. Trackmen Leave Tomorrow for Meet With Navy

EAGLES ARE STRONG
DASHES

25 in B. C. Party; Team Weak in Long Runs and Field Events

By JOHN B. GILGOLLY

Twenty-five Boston College trackmen and Jack Reber, will leave at six o'clock tomorrow night for Annapolis, where they will engage in the first dual meet of the spring with the Navy on Saturday afternoon.

This track and field clash which will consist of the regular intercollegiate program of 16 events, is the first between B. C. and the Navy. The Eagles football team, out on the Navy end of the fall and winter seasons, of an undefeated season from the Mid-west by a 6 to 0 score. The track meet will be a continuation of hostilities that may be kept up for some years to come.

Although B. C. is represented by 25 husky trackmen, there are but eight in the party who won their letters. In spite of the seeming inexperience of the squad, the high hopes of winning the meet from the Navy.

TEAM UNBALANCED

The Eagles outfit is strong in the short run, dashes, hurdles and sprints, but is weak in the long distance races and the high jump, broad jump and javelin. Capt. Wilkerson, should be the high jumper in the Boston College team. Fetter is counting on his giant leaper to collect 15 points. Wilkerson is a genuine sprinter and B. C.'s chances are practically built around his versatility.

Wilkerson will be favored to win the short put, 100 and 120 yard high hurdles, and he also will be heard from in the javelin broad jump and low hurdles. Zeas will enter all six events and is rugged enough to collect 15 points in the B. C. total in each one.

AFTER DEATH TITLE

He gathered 19 points in the intercollegiate meet without exerting himself. Zeas is aiming for the 400 yard title at the Penn State games, which will be held in Philly on the 28th and 29th. The Navy meet will be a fitting test for his objective of the spring.

Another big fellow on the B. C. party is Jim Sullivan of Quincy, who by the hardest work he established himself as a worthy hammer thrower. He won the event in the inter-collegiate meet. Jim is still a rookie, but is the kind of a lad who can be counted on to come through.

Army Team Enters

New York, April 17.—Major Harry T. Chamberlain of Fort Riley, Kan., who commands the 28th States army horse show, has entered his entire outfit at the 27th annual Brooklyn horse show. This will be the only appearance of the army jockeys in the East before the team sells for Europe aboard the Dresden, May 2.

It is the first time that the United States army has entered the European union and made possible through the presence of European union and the accomplished jockeys. They will visit Hamburg, Cologne, Berlin and Dublin, according to the present itinerary of shows.

Finnegan to Fight King Tut in Hub This Summer

WAITS CHANCE TO TOSS

TWO GUARDS
OUT TO SIGN
HONEYBOYEddie Mack and Bob McKirdy Seek to Stage Bout in Outdoor Ring

By JACK CONWAY

HONEYBOY FINNIGAN and King Tut will start their staff at one of the Boston baseball grounds this summer.Eddie Mack of the Boston Garden and Colonel Bob Mc-Kirdy of the Arena Club have made Dan Carroll offer for the services of Honeyboy.This bout is a "natural" in view of the fact King Tut received a decision over Honeyboy at Philadelphia on Monday night. The decision was a halfline affair—
one judge voting for King Tut and the other for Finnigan. The referee decided the result when he cast his ballance for King
Tut.The merry King is one of the best highweight in the country. He has here and he will pass the off a heavy rain.
The opposition knockout. In Finnigan, he found a young man who stood up to him and raked an exchange of punches.
The tune was one of the best between lightweights ever staged in Philadelphia.The fans of the Quaker City have asked for a repeat of the battle, but the promoters will have to do some high bidding to take the affair away from this town. The fans here are anxious to get a peek at the bird who was nifty enough to get the edge on Honey-boy.AL MELLO's two decisive victories over Joe Dundee, world's welterweight champion, proved to the fans that the world's second best welterweight also comes from Lowell. I refer to Billy Murphy. The latter is the only welterweight who has given Dundee any serious trouble during the past year. When this pair collided in their first tussle at Fenway Park last summer, Murphy was leading going into the ninth round. He was obliged to make a terrific rally during the last two frames to get the award.In a return bout, an eye injury caused Murphy's second to halt.
Murphy weighed 146 pounds for both of his contests with Mello.
He is a legitimate welterweight. A contest between Mello and Murphy at 147 pounds for the New England welterweight title would prove a good attraction. There are many Lowell fans who are of the opinion Murphy would have an even chance of victory against Mello if the latter would consent to make 147 pounds. He is above the welterweight limit for both of his tussles with Murphy.Murphy's next start will probably be in New York. Billy recently made a big hit at the New York Garden when he gave Canada Lee a boxing lesson.JIM MALONEY will step back into action on Friday night in New York when he leads in the O'Kellier in a 10-round bout at Joe McMahon's New York Coliseum. It will be the third meeting between these battlers. The first contest was staged in New York and ended in a draw. Maloney later outpointed Con by a healthy margin at the Boston Garden.I look for another Maloney victory on Friday night. Maloney has too experienced a campaigner for the pushing O'Kellier.It is the only major boxing attraction in New York this week as the circus is at the Garden.
The New York Coliseum played to a crowd of 18,000 at its opening show last week with Kid Chocolate and Bushy Graham the big draw.
The gate went close to $50,000 with $5,000. The new state palace will furnish some opposition for the Garden.AL LACEY, one of the best trainers of boxers in the country, says Ray Beasman will be in good condition for once in his life at least when he steps into action against Bob Miller at the Arena a week from Friday night.
Lack of condition was the real cause for Beasman's defeat in his last meeting with Miller. After knocking Miller down three times, he blew wide open.Real rats never are growing stronger in Boston. If you ever saw a rat, you know it. See the strong rat in the cage.

Twixt Tee and Cup

By BILL CRIMES

Park Commissioner William P. Long will officially open the public links at Franklin Park tomorrow morning. The "Munne" season will be opened after the commissioner has driven from the first tee.Unlike most official openers, Commissioner Long will play the entire course, instead of contenting himself with one drive from the clubhouse. The course is in the best of condition.
Comer Weiland of the Braves has decided to spend the summer and flooding that area after months playing golf. Conney took up the game last season and got as much of a kick out of it as he does from hockey.Clarence Gibney is at the South Shore Country Club getting things in readiness for the season. The official opening will be Patriots day, and a handicap medal play tournament has been arranged for the occasion.After the stormy trip they had to England, it will be some time before at least a few of the members of the United States Ryder Cup team are themselves. With the exception of Walter Hagen, none of the Ryder Cup players are good sailors and the storm incurred on the journey may run the defenders of the famous trophy.The Bristol County Golf and Country Club, which is a new club, has been built here in excellent condition as this spring. Between Park Commissioner William P. Long and Supp Joe Howe, the Hub boasts of the finest municipal layout in the country.After playing daily throughout the winter in the South to retain the feel of his club, A. S. Brown-lie, of the Salem Country Club has been thrown off his stride by the inclement weather. Brownlie was

Farrell Estimates
Chances of Smith

By JOHNNY FARRELL

American Open Golf Champion

WHAT of this boy, Smith? Twenty-year-old Horton, slim six-footer, whom a fellow Massachusetts, Bill Curran, New York sports scribe, has aptly called "The Lady of the Links!"
What's he going to do when we play on the other side of the pond?The 18-foot Joplin Jigger is the mystery man of the American Ryder Cup expeditionary force.
What he'll do, nobody knows. He probably hasn't made up his own mind yet. He's just like that.I think he has worried less about what he is to take place at Links during the international matches and at Mulfield later on, than any of us.With Armour, Mac, Smith, Hagen, Cruikshank, Bar-campaigners and all determined to grab off the British open cham-

That's what he has been doing all

More for the Money

The new Dodge Brothers Six completely alters every popular notion of how much it is possible to embody in a car so moderately priced. It even surpasses all previous Dodge Brothers standards of value, dependability and positive worth! For the new Dodge Brothers Six is definitely a more-for-the-money car. In all-around performability, in comfort and ease of handling, in luxury and style, and in stamina, it is as thoroughly characteristic of Dodge Brothers fine craftsmanship as it is of the rare creative genius of Walter P. Chrysler.EIGHT

MERELY THE BAER FACTS

LOVES OF STAGE BEAUTIES

THREE-MINUTE TRIPS

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
THERE was a war raging over at the British Embassy in Washington last week.
The question was precedence at White House luncheons.
Shall the sister of the Vice-President grab the celery before the wife of the Siberian diplomat remove the shad bones from her family tree?
This is an important item among diplomats. Proving nothing except that diplomats have little to do.
The wife of a diplomat is a diplomatress.
There is nothing in the World Court or the League of Nations making it illegal for a Vice-President to have a sister.
So, if a Vice-President wants to take his sister to an official dinner, it is his own fault.
Mr. Curtis insists that his sister ranker above the Ladies' Auxiliary of International Geop and that she is entitled to a spoon with her soup.
When this fact became known in the aspirin and lorgnette belts, all the daughters of the American Revolution immediately went for another snail to the Mayflower.
We agree with Mr. Curtis on this subject.
Senator Harkin agrees with him, too.

Maybe you were wrong.
The question of precedence at dinners was responsible for King Arthur's Round Table. The knights were scrambling for positions of honor. So King Arle designed his circular throne. He said:
"The table is round. We're all here. We are all equal and we're all citizens. Trust the biscuits."
The question of precedence and the Vice-President's sister could be settled without going to war.
Why not dine in a cafeteria?
By ELINOR GLYN
THE thing I would like to improve upon you, girls, is to cultivate what I call the "moral antennae"—a sort of sixth sense which the butterfly possesses in its antennae, which is neither sight nor hearing, but which, if you have it, enables you to understand atmosphere, and when it is wise to speak, and when to be silent. We have all of us been reaped by quite worthy, well-meaning boys, who say the wrong thing and chatter when they should be quiet; and indeed I know a very pretty girl who lost a most eligible fiance simply because she never sensed anything but always had to be told in words.
She would talk when anyone else could have seen he was propped up, and reproached him for not loving her when he wanted some times to read, and he left alone.

By RUTH MORRIS
ADELAIDE RISTORI, Italy's most brilliant actress of the 19th century, was remarkable for many reasons, but chiefly for the energy she put into her work and the amount of study she gave to it. She was her own most rigorous task mistress. Having conquered Italian audiences, she laid siege to the Parisian public and captured it by performance in her native tongue. But not satisfied, at the age of 30 she started studying foreign languages, with such success that she was able in a short time to perform roles in both English and French.
That her three most famous roles were those of British heroines, and that she became the rival of the French Rachel, the idol of all Paris, shows to what great heights her amazing determination drove her.
Ristori's stage debut was made at the tender age of three months when she was carried on the stage by the villain of the piece. The debutante screamed with such true ardor and yielded the same old beard so victoriously that she was a tremendous hit. It took minutes to quiet the audience after her speedy exit.
Three more years found her enacting sleeping children of the Italian drama, and she was doing sparkling sonnetts parts. At the age of 13 she was portraying a lead part in an obscure company and at 18 was offered the post of leading woman with this same organization.
But her father preferred to have her accept less important parts with a more important company. And so she was spared the fate of many another child prodigy, who has sprung prematurely to fame and suffered a speedy decline through lack of development.

In 1866, back in Paris, she was persuaded to attempt a part written in French specially for her by the now famous Legouve. Paris hailed this London stage beauty on the part of a foreign star. Again the Marquis attempted to persuade her to give up the stage and retire from the stage. But she would not. She had married the Marquis del Gioio, who wanted her to retire from the stage. But she would not. She had married the Marquis del Gioio, who wanted her to retire from the stage. But she would not.
Knowing not a word of French, she did the theatrical world of Paris into two hostile parties, those who clung to the French favorite, Rachel, and those who clung to the English favorite, Ristori. And she was not only the English favorite, but she was the French favorite, too. She was the French favorite, too. She was the French favorite, too.
Little John was interested in the matter on the sleeping porch. "What are those round things, Daddy?"
"They are knot holes, son."
"Well, if they're not holes, what are they, Daddy?"
Mrs. Annie Harding, 34 Mills St., West Neck.

and though their lives are made complex by a multitude of taboos and customs.
The men go practically naked while the women wear short harem-like dresses. Many tribes are still warlike, some are peaceful, some are nomadic, some are agricultural. Many are much in the minority, others are the majority.
The Papuans live on the fringes of the world. At the age of about five the septum of the nose is pierced with a sharp, heated bone, and through this they like to thrust the feathers of birds of paradise. Flowers, shells and even the bones of their enemies also are used for personal decoration. Many tribes are still warlike, some are peaceful, some are nomadic, some are agricultural. Many are much in the minority, others are the majority.
Smith—"Why don't you take your wife along when you go riding?"
Jones—"This old car of mine can give me all the argument I want!"

NEW GUINEA

FREE TO ASTHMA SUFFERERS

By TEMPLE MANNING
NEW GUINEA, which with the exception of Australia is the largest island in the world, is the home of the remaining outposts of cannibalism. True, the practices have been stamped out to a considerable extent by the Dutch, nominal colonizers, but half of the island, but that it still exists in the less accessible regions and among the wilder tribes is undisputed. Such ancient customs, surrounded as they usually are by folkish beliefs and social usage, do not readily become wholly extinct.
In this enormous island, great tracks of which have been explored and perhaps will be the last section of the earth ever to be explored, there probably are not more than 80,000 inhabitants in all. The climate and natural formation are inimical to mankind. The sturdy Papuans seem able to withstand the assault of the jungle. These are tall, muscular men, with long, straight, and fleshy noses and frizzy hair. They are not a very advanced civilization than the Malays, though they display resource and cunning in the endless fight for existence.

Andrews May Quit Mongolian Hunt

Pekin, China, April 17.—Demands of the Chinese government that "Americans do all the work and give China all the discoveries" are likely to force Roy Chapman Andrews to abandon his latest Mongolian expedition, the noted explorer said.

Special Midnight Show at Gayety

A special midnight performance, which will begin at 11:30, will be given tomorrow night at the Gayety by the entire company of "Sporty Widows" with Billie Fields and an array of burlesque stars.

Particular attention will be paid to Paul Revere's ride, and the British retreat from Concord and Lexington. Several special novelties are being arranged for a gala performance.
